SHOVER HAS A BOY

Streator, Ill., July 18—A tornado at evening killed five persons, injured a score of others and caused a property loss of $2,000,000. The dead are: Harry Doyle, Nels H. Bivens, R. Purcell, Charles Snyder, W. D. Bow, colored.

Many houses were unrooted and otherwise damaged. Telephone and telegraph lines were nearly all blown down.

J. Daugherty and a man employed on the latter's farm.

ARTIST WHISTLER DEAD.

London, July 18—James Abbott McNeill Whistler, American artist, died at the age of 69 years. His death came unexpectedly, although for some time he had been seriously ill. This morning's papers publish elaborate obituary notices, recognizing the distinguished and unique personality of Whistler, whose genius greatly dominated European art of the present generation. While admitting that it is for posterity to decide his exact position as a painter, it is generally conceded that he was a consummate etcher.

AT MEDOTA.

Medota, Ill., July 18—Four persons were killed and ten were seriously injured by a tornado which struck the northern part of Medota last night. The known dead are: Cora Deisendorf, aged 15; Ora Lony, aged 19; Schamel, aged 13; Schamel, aged 4.

The injured: Mrs. John Wirscher, Miss Wirscher, Mrs. Oscar Milligan, Jerome Milligan, Alice Wilson, Edna Austin, James Smith, Henry Schweitzer and Mrs. James Smith.

BEAVERS INDICTED.

New York, July 18—A bench warrant was issued by Judge Thomas in the United States circuit court of Brooklyn for the arrest of George W. Beavers on an indictment found by the federal grand jury, which charges him with accepting a bribe of $840. It is understood that payments to Beavers were traced back to the purchase by the government of the Brandt-Dean Cash Registering Machine company.

SAYS HE WILL BE KILLED.

Lexington, July 18—Captain Ewen says he is confident he will be killed Tuesday when he goes to Jackson. He has made all the contributed money over to his wife and arranged all details for his funeral.

Slick Thief Gets $125 Worth of Gold From Dr. Ashcraft.

Also Visited Dr. Dabney's Office and Took All He Could Find There

NO OTHER DENTISTS SUFFERED

The quiet, smooth, genteel man who has been stealing gold from divers dentists' parlors in Kentucky for the past week or two appears to have selected a very novel as well as unusual plan for "living easy." Dentists all carry more or less gold in stock, and few of them have been keeping it locked up.

Hereafter, however, a number of them in Paducah, along with many in other cities, will keep their valuables under lock and key, if not in the safe. The "dentist burglar" will likely find his methods unprofitable hereafter, as a widespread warning has been sent out in all directions in the press.

Two Paducah dentists at least are worse off from a visit of the thief, who ever he was. Dr. Allen Ashcraft, whose office is in the Murrell building on Broadway near Sixth, had $125 worth of gold stolen from his cabinet some time between last Saturday and yesterday. He left Saturday for a fishing trip, and did not return until yesterday. He then found that his cabinet had been broken open during his absence, and the gold and other valuable material stolen amounting to $125 or more. There was no evidence of how the thief got in, but in other places he has been known to use skeleton keys and crawl through transoms.

Dr. A. S. Dabney, who has his office in the same building, but downstairs, reports that between last Saturday night and Monday about $5 in gold was taken from his cabinet, which was open and did not have to be forced. He did not report the loss because the amount was small and he did not think there was any chance to catch the thief. It is probable the theft in Dr. Ashcraft's office was committed about the same time.

Dr. Will Owen's office is in the same building, but he had his gold locked in his safe which probably saved it for him.

Inquiry at the offices of other local dentists, of which there are half a dozen or more, revealed the fact that no others have missed anything. One method sometimes employed by the thief in other places was to go to a dentist, pretend he wanted some gold filling done and ask to be shown some of the gold. When he finds out where it is kept he knows all he wants to know, and seeing a friend in the street he wants to speak to, saying he will return in a minute he leaves, and that is the last of him until he comes back after the office is closed and gets the gold. It is estimated that he has secured over $1,000 worth of gold from dentists in Henderson, Owensboro, Louisville and Paducah, and doubtless he has operated extensively in other cities as well.

Clearings this week, $740,001
Same week last year, 578,052
Increase, 161,949

Bank clearings again show a remarkably good increase over the same time last year, nearly 25 per cent, and reflects the big business being done by Paducah and vicinity. The total increase for the country was 2 per cent. Wholesale business is good for the season with local merchants, and the same is true with the manufacturers.

Retail trade is showing an increase over the same time last year. Building and repair work is progressing satisfactorily, and real estate is fairly active.

Of the general situation throughout the country Bradstreet says:

Well nigh perfect summer weather helps crops, increasing confidence in fall trade and stimulates retail business.

Lower prices for many staples are really an encouraging development

MAYOR INTERFERES.

ON ACCOUNT OF CHICAGO RIOT PEOPLE ARE WARNED.

Chicago, July 18—The riotous conduct of the strikers of the Kellogg Switchboard company and their sympathizers during the last four days impelled Mayor Harrison to issue a proclamation last night, urging all people to remain away from the scene of the trouble, and calling on the rioters to cease from their work. The proclamation declares that all persons who congregate near the plant or in any other way interfere with the work of the police will be promptly arrested and punished.

The only mixup yesterday occurred at Taylor street and Hermitage avenue. A large crowd of men and boys, pursuing a wagon load of freight sent out by the Kellogg company boarded a street car and ordered the motorman to take them in pursuit of the wagon, and bombarded the car with stones until there was not a pane of glass left in it. The motorman and conductor narrowly escaped injury. A squad of policemen arrived in time to offer them protection.

CAR DELAYS TRAFFIC—Car No. 64, of the Paducah City Railway Co., was derailed on South Fourth street this afternoon about 2:30 near the city hall and some little delay was occasioned in replacing the wheels on the rails. No damage was done.

Mrs. A. B. Sowell, who has been ill from malarial fever, is better.

free delivery. This will make the fourth route established in McCracken county, and it is the last one petitioned for. It will begin about Tyler, south of Mechanicburg, go out the Benton road to Sharpe, Marshall county and return after covering several cross roads, the same route and end where it begins. It will be a good thing for the people of that section.

The funeral of the late Thomas H. Martin of Louisville, who has relatives in this city, took place in Louisville this morning, and the remains were taken to Greensville or burial.

Mr. Martin died Thursday night at 9:45 o'clock of a complication of diseases of the liver. He was the youngest of two sons of Campbell and America Martin, being born at Greenville, Ky., February 11, 1839. In 1869 he entered the tobacco business manufacturing, being a member of the firm of H. N. Martin & Co., of which J. R. Martin of this city is a member, which was organized in 1840 and is the oldest concern of the kind in the United States. Four years ago, owing to the growth of their business, they moved their plant from Greenville to Louisville. Two years ago the interests incorporated and Mr. Martin was made one of the vice presidents. He held this office at the time of his death.

Mr. C. M. Martin of this city, a nephew, attended the funeral.

LIBRARY WORK—The work of Contractor Wm. Karnes on the Carnegie library is almost finished. The marble columns are now being put in position. Work on the interior will probably, however, require considerable more time.

Mrs. Will Staggenberg is dangerously ill at her home, 905 Clay street.

HE WAS WATCHED.

AND DID NOT TAKE THE SLEEPER'S TICKET.

W. E. Foster, a railroad flagman employed on the I. C. between Fulton and Memphis, was arrested here this morning by Officer Buck Whitehurst for the alleged attempted robbery of Andy Smith at a West Broadway saloon. It is alleged that Foster was seen to take the watch from Smith while the latter was sleeping in the rear of the saloon, but seeing that he was being watched, placed the ticket back in the sleeping man's pocket. Officer Whitehurst made the arrest.

MARRIED IN NASHVILLE.

Miss Rachel Gore and Dr. F. T. Tilton, the former of Lone Oak and the latter of Nashville, Ind., were married at Nashville Sunday. The bride is the sister of Dr. R. C. Gore of Lone Oak and is well known here.

TODAY'S TEMPERATURE.

The thermometer today has registered less than has been recorded in several days, the mercury marking the highest at 2 o'clock at only 91, with 78 the highest last night. Today a light breeze has been blowing, making the heat more bearable. The weather predictions for Kentucky are fair and cooler tonight and Sunday.

ILNESS AMONG R. R. EMPLOYEES

MATTERS ABOUT THE HALL

Few Saloons Did Not Ignore the 10:30 Law Last Night

Monday Night the Council Meets in Regular Session at City Hall.

Most of the saloons kept open last night, as they did before the police commissioners ordered the 10:30 ordinance enforced. They kept open because it was evident from Judge Sanders' remarks yesterday that he would decide the ordinance inoperative, and even if warrants were issued today they would be dismissed Monday. Some of the saloons never remain open longer than midnight, but most of those in the habit of running all night did so last night.

A negro woman giving the name of Anna Belle Dickerson was arrested last night and locked up because her actions indicated she was either demoralized or under the influence of some drug. She called at the city hall at different times during the day and made various complaints, which aroused the suspicions of the officers. One was that someone had a raccoon which "grinned" at her constantly, and another that a number of colored people were "mocking her." She seems to be well educated, but was locked up and kept the lockup in an uproar most of the night. Today she still seems to be "dotty," and will be kept in prison until she recovers. The officers think she was full of coke when arrested. She was fined $5 and costs today in police court.

Mayor Yeiser will recommend, at the suggestion of the owner, appraisers to value the property of Mr. George Bernhard on Broadway desired for opening Fountain avenue. The city offered Mr. Bernhard $900, which he refused. Monday it will be moved in the council that appraisers settle the dispute and save the trouble and expense of a condemnation suit.

Warren Schultz, a traveling man, reported to the police this morning that his telescope containing clothing and other articles had disappeared. He desired to leave on the Dick Fowler for Cairo, and left, and a short time afterward Patrol Wagon Driver John Austin found the missing grip at the I. C. depot, where it had been carried through mistake.

Monday night the council will meet in regular session and the usual amount of business may be expected to come up. So far as is known there is nothing of unusual importance to be considered, as the 10:30 ordinance will probably be declared invalid and thus dispense with the necessity of trying to repeal it.

The sanitary condition of the city is very bad and the police officers are today working harder than ever. They have been supplied with books containing blank notices to be filled and left at premises that need attention, and warrants will be sworn out against all who fail to comply.

The ground near North Twelfth street owned by Attorney W. D. Greer is being laid off into blocks by Contractor E. C. Terrell, and promises to become one of the best additions the city has.

William Chamblin, colored, was today arrested by Officer Hurley for cursing and abusing Sallie Maning, colored. The offense is alleged to have occurred more than a week ago, but Chamblin skipped out and returned today.

OTHER K. I. T. GAMES.

HENDERSON WINS.

Clarksville, Tenn., July 18—The fans were treated to a pitchers' battle yesterday in which Bolin and Harris each struck out ten men. Bolin also made a home run. Henderson 6 runs, 4 hits and 8 errors; Bolin and Warner. Clarksville 3 runs, 6 hits and 6 errors; Harris and Holmes.

THIS DOES US GOOD.

Jackson, Tenn., July 18—The home club defeated the "Top-notchers" yesterday. Jackson 7 runs, 13 hits and 2 errors. Cairo 1 run, 5 hits and 4 errors. Batteries, Cole and Pettit; Clark, Dickens and Rutledge.

Paducah has the only team in the league that the Hoppers, which have occupied a permanent position at the tail end for some time, can beat. They turned the trick yesterday afternoon again at Wallace park by a score of 9 to 4, and did it well. The Hoppers ought to petition the league to allow them to stay here and they'd soon be at the top. No matter who was responsible for yesterday's fiasco Captain Gage got the credit for the defeat, for he hobbled around in center field when there was a man in uniform on the bench who could have done much better, and apparently couldn't even pick up the ball when he managed to find it.

His bum playing disgusted the fans early in the game and the contest was almost featureless with the exception of Paducah's ten errors.

Catcher Street, for the first time, played a rotten game behind the bat for the visitors, and apparently didn't care. Best pitched a good game for Paducah, and is fast, proving himself to be one of the best pitchers in the league, but the support he gets is enough to send him home in disgust. Yesterday he struck out eleven men. Seven scores were made by the visitors in the fifth inning, on a base on balls, three hits and a bunch of errors. The summary:

She will give a miscellaneous program the first of the evening, followed by a rendition of Enoch Arden, with musical selections furnished by Miss Virginia Newell.

THE BOSS WORM MEDICINE.

H. P. Kump, druggist, Leighton, Ala., writes: "One of my customers had a child which was sick and threw up all food; could retain nothing on its stomach. He bought one bottle of White's Cream Vermifuge and it brought up 119 worms from the child. It's the boss worm medicine in the world." White's Cream Vermifuge is also the children's tonic. It improves their digestion and assimilation of food, strengthens their nervous system and restores them to the health, vigor and elasticity of spirits natural to childhood. 25c at DuBois, Kolb & Co.

Jerry Graves, one of the two men hanged at Marion, Ill., last week for the murder of Nellie Reichelderfer, made a confession concerning another crime also.

This confession was made one hour and thirty-six minutes before he was hanged and was made to Rev. Tatum in the presence of County Clerk Dodd, who wrote it down and took Graves' signature and oath.

Graves wrote with a firm, steady hand, though he had just donned his death shroud.

THE PERFECT LIVER MEDICINE.

Mrs. M. A. Jolley, Noble, O. T., writes: "I have used Herbine for a number of years and can cheerfully recommend it is the most perfect liver medicine and the greatest blood purifier. It is a medicine of positive merit and fully accomplishes all that is claimed for it." Malaria cannot find lodgment in the system while the liver is in perfect order, for one of its functions is to prevent the absorption of fever-producing poisons. Herbine is a most efficient liver regulator. 50c at DuBois, Kolb & Co.

CURIOSITY.

THE MOTIVE THAT LEADS TO KNOWLEDGE.

They say curiosity once killed a cat, but if it were not for curiosity little progress would be made. A Texan tells the following good story about his curiosity and what he learned about food: "One day down at the store I noticed a yellow package with a curious name, 'Grape-Nuts.' The name fascinated me and aroused my curiosity. I didn't like to display my ignorance by asking, so bought a package and took it home, where I read all about it. When wife and I tried it we thought it delightful and commenced using it morning and evening with cream.

SHOWED TRUE SCOTCH THRIFT.

Wise Man Would Have Monument Serve Two Purposes.

Among Andrew Carnegie's collection of anecdotes illustrative of Scotch character one of the oddest follows: Sir John Cave was in Glasgow in 1807, at a time when the populace had it in mind to honor Nelson with a monument. Sir John attended a public dinner one evening when the monument came in for a good deal of discussion. Finally the visitor was asked for his views as to the inscription.

"I think," said Sir John, "that the style of the inscription should be entirely simple and plain. What I should put on the monument would be just the words, 'Glasgow to Nelson.'

"I agree with the gentleman," said an aged Scot, arising. "But I would make an addition. We all know that from the town of Glasgow to that of Nelson is six miles, and therefore I would affix to the monument, after the words, 'Glasgow to Nelson,' the addendum, 'six miles,' and then our monument would serve two purposes."

"Say that, Pole," Abner called out.

the shoe bein' on another foot. I was goin' to tell you how this misfortune o' Alf's had affected Pole. He's been like a crazy man ever since it happened. It's been all Alan could do to keep 'im from goin' to Atlanta an' chokin' the life out o' Perkins. Pole got so mad when he wouldn't let 'im go that he went off cussin' 'im for all he was worth. I wonder what sort of a denomination a man ud fit into that! I cuss his best friends black an' blue beca's they won't let 'im fight fer 'em. Yes, he'll fight, an' if he ever does jine the ranks above he'll do the work o' ten men when that's blood to spill. I seed 'im in a row once durin' election when he was leggin' fer a friend o' his'n. He stood right at the polls an' wanted to shake every man that voted ag'in 'im. A few minutes after he had gone Pole came out of his room and sat down in his chair again. "That seems to be a sorta bright young man," he remarked.

"As bright as a new dollar," returned Abner in a tone of warm admiration.

"Did you notice that big, wedge shaped head o' his'n? It's plum full o' brains. One day a feller come down to Filmore's store. He made a business o' feelin' o' heads an' writin' out charts at 25 cents apiece. He didn't waste much time on the rest o' the scabs he examined, but when he got to Pole's noggins he talked for a good hour. I never heard the like. He said er his talents had been properly directed Pole ud'a made a big public man. He said he hadn't run across such a head in a month o' Sundays. He was right, you bet, an' every one o' the seven brats Pole's got 's just as peart as he is. They are a-growin' up in idleness an' rags too. I wisht I could meet some o' them down big Yankees that are a-sendin' the'r money down here an' buildin' fine schools to educate niggers an' neglectin' the'r own race beca's it fit ag'in 'em. You can't hardly beat larnt' into a nigger's head, an' it ud be only common sense to spend money what it ud do the most good. I ain't got nothin' ag'in' a nigger bein' larnt to read an' write, but I can't stomach the'r bein' forced ahead o' devorin' white folks sooner in the Lord counted on. Them kinda Yankees is the same sort that makes pets o' dogs an' pamper's 'em up when pore white children is in need of food an' affection."

Pole looks like he had natural capacity," said Pole. He was fond of conversing with Abner on any topic except that of religious matters.

"He'd make a bang up detective," laughed Abner. "One day I was at Filmore's store. Pole sometimes, when he's rushed, gits Pole to clerk fer 'im, beca's he's quick at figures. It happened that Pole had the store to 'imself one day when Nell had gone off to cut down a bee tree with a passle o' neigbors, an' a trillin' feller come in an' begun to nose about. An' when Pole's back was turned to weigh up some cotton in the seed he stole a pocket-book out o' the showcase. I reckon Pole didn't like his looks much nohow, for as soon as the skunk had gone he began to look about to see if he'd tuck anything. All at once he missed the pocket-book an' told Nell that night that he was mighty nigh shore the feller lifted it, but he couldn't really swear to it. About a week after that he seed the same feller comin' down the road headed for the store on his gray mule. Me an' Nell was both there, an' Pole hustled us in the back room an' told us to stay there. He said he was a-cuin' to find out o' the feller stoled the book. Nell was afraid o' the feller, but he just shoved us back an' shut the door on us. Nell got 'im a crack in the partition, an' I found me a knothole.

"The feller hitched an' come in an' said howdy do an' started to take a cheer high the door, but Pole stopped him.

"Come here to the showplace," he said. "I want to show you some'n." The feller went, an' I seed Pole yank out the box 'at had the rest o' the pocket-books in it. "Look y' heer," Pole said in a loud, steady voice—"you could 'a heerd 'im clean to the creek—look y' neer." The regular price o' these books is fifty cents; that's what we sell 'em for; but you've got to run yore hand down in yore pocket an' give me a dollar fer one quicker'n you ever made a trade in yore life."

"What do you mean?" the feller said.

"I mean exactly what I said, an' you are a-losin' time," said Pole, talkin' louder an' louder. "The price is fifty cents; but you got to give me a dollar for one. Haul 'er out, my friend; haul 'er out! It'll be the cheapest thing you ever bought in yore life."

"The feller was as white as a sheet. He gulped two or three times 'fore he spoke; then he said: 'I know what you think. You think I took one o'th'er day when I was lookin' in the showcase, but you are mistaken.'

"I never said a word about you talkin' one," Pole yelled at 'im, "but you'd better yank out that dollar an' buy one. You need it."

"The feller did it. I heerd the money click as he laid it on the glass, an' I known he was convicted.

"They are only with 50 cents," he said kinder fainlike.

"You're a liar," Pole yelled at 'im, "fer you've jest paid a dollar for one on yore own account. Now I'll jest give you two minites to straddle that mule. Ef you don't, I'll take you to the sheriff myself, you thief!"

"I've always done my tradin' heer," said the feller, thinkin' that 'd sorter pacify Pole, but he said: "Yes, an' you stealin', too, I reckon, you black livered jailbird. Git out, git out!"

"Me 'n' Nell come in when the feller 'd gone, but Pole was actually too mad to speak. "He got off too darned light," he said after awhile. "I could 'a' sold 'im a big bill o' goods at 100 per cent profit, fer he had plenty o' money. Now he's ridin' off laughin' at me."

CHAPTER X.

NEIL FILMORE's store was about half a mile from Bishop's house, at the crossing of the Darley road and another leading into east Tennessee. Alan had gone down there one day to engage white labor to work in his growing cotton, negroes being scarce owing to the tendency of that race to flock into the towns. With the aid of Pole Baker, who was clerking that day for Filmore, he soon employed the men he wanted and started to walk back home. On the way he was overtaken by his uncle, who was returning from Darley in his wagon.

"Hold on, thar!" the old man called out. "Ef you are a-goin' home, I'll rest yore legs."

Alan smiled as he climbed up into the seat by the old man.

"I shall certainly appreciate it," he said. "I'm tired out today."

"I sorta thought you looked dabbergasted," returned Abner as he swung his whip over the backs of his sleek horses. "Well, I reckon I could afford to give you a ride. I happl'd that cuss Dole three miles goin' t'other way. He had the cheek to yell at me from Habbersham's ginseng an' axed me of I'd haul 'im. Then he kept me waitin' till he'd heft prayer an' read to the family."

"You don't seem to like him," said Alan. "I've noticed that for some time."

"I reckon I don't to any great extent," said Abner, clucking to his tired horses, "but it ain't rally to my credit. A feller's wrong son'er's, Alan, that allows himself to hate anything the Lord ever made. I've struggled agin that proposition for twenty-five year. All this talk about the devil makin' the bad an' the Lord the good is talk through a hat. Bad things was made before the devil ever jumped from his high estate, or he'd never preferred a high to a narp. I've tuck notice, too, that the wust things I ever seed was sometimes at the root o' the best. Manure is a bad thing, but a cake of it will produce a daisy bigger 'n any in the field. Dole makes me gag sometimes, but as narrow as he is twixt the eyes he do some good. I reckon that hell fire sermon he gave us last August made some o' the crowd sweat out a little o' their meanness. I'd 'a' been more merciful on such a hot day though. He might a' reserved that harangue for some cold day in December when the stove dues wouldn't burn. Ef I'd 'a' been a-goin' to tell about future torment that hot day, I'd 'a' said that every lost soul was made to set on a cake o' ice in a windy spot through all eternity, an' I'd 'a' started out by singin' 'On Greenland's icy Mountain.' But that ain't what I axed you to git in my wagon fer."

"You didn't intend to try to convert me then?"

REAL QUALITIES OF WORTH.

Loyalty, Charity and Generosity Most to Be Praised.

As a man grows older he perceives that the moral qualities are worth a good deal more in friendship than the intellectual qualities, and that no brilliancy of mind, no charm of conversation can make up for lack of loyalty, charity and generosity in social intercourse.

Young men of brains are disposed to value mainly mental power in other people, and it is a human quality to forgive much in men and women of genius. This is a false appreciation of the respective values of mentality and the moral qualities. The time comes when a man learns that unselfishness and affection are better in wife or friend than intellectual power accompanied by intense self-love. Fortunate is the man who does not come to this knowledge too late.—San Francisco Bulletin.

"Come here to the showplace," he said. "I want to show you some'n." The feller went, an' I seed Pole yank out the box 'at had the rest o' the pocket-books in it. "Look y' heer," Pole said in a loud, steady voice—"you could 'a heerd 'im clean to the creek—look y'
